What former trainees said:

“The experiences this summer have taught me first and foremost about the necessity of being part of a community of Christ-followers instead of trying to live for Jesus all by yourself.”

“I think this summer has made me more confident in who I am in Christ. It made me want to be more involved in a church today, and to serve more, even when I am uncomfortable doing it.”

“I never expected to get this attached to the kids. Leaving was one of the hardest things I’ve had to do... They’ve changed me and helped me grow in Christ and my faith.”
